ABSTRACT

Lesbian, Gay and Bisexual Issues in Education (LGBIE) is a network of the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development. The network has prepared a resource directory dealing with lesbian, gay, and bisexual issues in education for educators and students. The network lists publications in accord with its goals of working toward dismantling heterosexism and homophobia in the curriculum and policies of elementary, secondary, and higher education. Resources, whether publications or organizations, are listed in the following categories: (1) bibliographies and resource guides; (2) curricula; (3) diversity training; (4) professional development; (5) legal issues; (6) organizations; (7) policy statement and resolutions; (8) publications; (9) scholarship information; (10) publishing houses; (11) support services; (12) task force reports and research reports; (13) educators' groups; (14) telecommunications; (15) video and audio; and (16) youth groups and networks. One hundred twenty-nine resources are listed. (SLD)

ABOUT ASCD AND LGBIE...

The Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development is an international, nonprofit and non-partisan association of individuals who share the belief that all students can succeed in a challenging, well-planned educational program. ASCD is one of the largest education associations in the world with over 190,000 members, including superintendents, principals, teachers, specialists, school board members, professors, central office staff, counselors and supervisors.

Lesbian, Gay and Bisexual Issues in Education (LGBIE) is one of ASCD's 43 networks that connect educators with similar interests and concerns on a variety of topics. Established in October 1992, the network has instituted the following goals:

- To work towards dismantling heterosexism and homophobia in the curriculum and policies of our schools, colleges and universities as well as within ASCD and other professional organizations.
- To strive to create equity in schools so that each individual is treated with respect and dignity.
- To extend the concept of cultural pluralism to include differences in sexual orientation.
- To provide a support system of resources for lesbian, gay and bisexual educators, students and parents as well as heterosexual allies in the fight against discrimination.
- To establish connections between heterosexism and other forms of oppression and discrimination.

This resource is designed to help secondary school teachers and students address issues which relate to lesbian, gay and bisexual teenagers. Gay teen, Jef, hosts well produced 28 minute video. Discussion guide included. 1991

"Sticks, Stones and Stereotypes" .....
(Also listed under DIVERSITY TRAINING and CURRICULA)

This highly acclaimed video documentary/ curriculum module designed especially for high school and first year college classrooms. The module focuses on homophobic, racial, ethnic and anti-Jewish slurs; the anguish caused by such remarks; the reasons people participate in name-calling; and what can be done to stop it. The videotape is presented bilingually and the curriculum module is available in English or Spanish.

"Who's Afraid of Project 10" .....
(see Project 10 listing under SUPPPORT SERVICES for address)

This videotape presents an overview of the Project 10 counseling program and the rationale for its establishment. It presents homophobic attitudes that prevail among students, parents, counselors and the community at large about homosexuality and AIDS. The videotape features gay and lesbian students as well as counselors, educators, community members and Project 10's inspirational founder, Dr Virginia Uribe.
